

The sun is bright but doesn't warm you How deceiving such a glow can be!
 All believers, let me warn you:
 You're out of luck, you see You're of luck, you see
 But don't cry over lost oars in the sea

Morning hides under a raincoat
 From the troubles and concerns it's found Though by now my dreams are remote
 I can still hear that sound
 I can still hear that sound
 The sound of childhood a-giggling around

Verses have good imagery.

Love the message of this song and you have done it in an effective way.

Be the way you always have been
 Try to learn from your own ways
 And work hard and true to un-spin
 Life's amazing, fazing maze
 Cancel all of your appointments
 Loosen laces of your doubts
 Take your fears and disappointments
 And just turn them inside out
 And just turn them inside out

Laughter flutters into my hands
 From afar just like a bright balloon
 Grown-ups live around on dry land
 But up above the moon
 But up above the moon
 The children live in the world past the moon

Morning jumps onto your pillow
 Chasing all your wrinkled thoughts away
 Hang your feelings out to dry now
 And take a step today
 And take a step today
 And take a step toward your own self today

Be the way you always have been
 Try to learn from your own ways
 And work hard and true to un-spin
 Life's amazing, fazing maze
 Cancel all of your appointments
 Loosen laces of your doubts
 Take your fears and disappointments
 And just turn them inside out
 And just turn them inside out

*Your lyrics were done beautifully and in a way that I haven't heard before.
 Nice job.*
